The President
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President:

On behalf of the National Employment Law Project, All of Us Or None, the PICO National Network, and the undersigned organizations and individuals, we urge executive action to ensure that both federal agencies and federal contractors are leading the way to open up employment opportunities for qualified job-seekers who have an arrest or conviction in their past.

Almost one in three adults in the United States has a record that will show up on a routine criminal background check. This creates a serious barrier to employment for millions of workers, especially in communities of color hardest hit by decades of over-criminalization. In response to this national crisis, elected officials from across the political spectrum have embraced “fair chance” hiring reforms.

These reforms restore hope and opportunity to qualified job-seekers with an arrest or conviction record who struggle against significant odds to find work and give back to their communities. Fourteen states, the District of Columbia, and over 100 cities and counties have adopted “ban the box” and other fair chance hiring reforms. Six states already extend the policy to both public and private sector employers, and a growing number of the nation’s largest retailers, including Walmart and Target, have adopted fair chance hiring measures as well.

In May of 2014, the My Brother’s Keeper Task Force strongly endorsed fair chance hiring reforms because they “give applicants a fair chance and allow employers the opportunity to judge individual job candidates on their merits as they reenter the workforce.” Building on the momentum across the country and the rebounding economy, now is the time to take executive action to open employment opportunities for the growing numbers of Americans who have been unfairly locked out of the job market because of a record.

Thus, we urge you to issue an Executive Order and a Presidential Memorandum that ensure that both federal agencies and federal contractors are doing their part to eliminate unnecessary barriers to employment of people with criminal records. A federal fair chance hiring initiative will go a long way to ensure fairness in the hiring process and to build stronger families and communities.

Sincerely,

National Organizations
