On January 18th at 2:00 Eastern Time, the National League of Cities, the National Employment Law Project and the National HIRE Network are sponsoring an audioconference profiling the many new city hiring initiatives promoting employment of people with criminal records.

This 60-minute call will feature elected officials, human resources staff and advocates from Boston, Chicago, San Francisco and St. Paul who have been leaders in developing and implementing their innovative hiring policies. Significant time will also be devoted to questions submitted by the conference participants. To register for the call, titled "Banning the Box: Facilitating the Reentry of Jobseekers with Criminal Records into the Workforce and Community," just e-mail your name, title, organization, mailing address, telephone, fax and e-mail to iyef@nlc.org (or fax the information to 202-626-3043). There is no charge to participate on the call.

The audioconference provides a special opportunity for local elected officials, human resources directors, advocates and organizers to learn more about the details of these model hiring policies and how consensus was forged to adopt the reforms. Please take this opportunity to spread the word about the call and build on the significant momentum to make these new policies a reality in your community.
